

ABSTRACT

A new cultivar of Euphorbia named 'TASMANIAN TIGER' that is distinguished by a compact habit, tall inflorescences with cream-white flowers, white and grey-green 5 variegated foliage, and pale grey-green stems. In combination these traits set
'TASMANIAN TIGER' apart from all other existing varieties of Euphorbia known to the inventor.